Select Board welcomes new town manager

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — The Wilmington Select Board welcomed new Town Manager Eric Slagle and approved requests for spaces during their meeting on Monday June 10.

Chair Greg Bendel established his excitement to welcome Slagle on his first day on the job. He mentioned that Slagle attended the Memorial Day celebration and given a speech there. He explained that the board intentionally kept the agenda short that night since it was Slagle's first day, and they wanted to give him time to get his feet under him. He wished Slagle the best of luck and success.

Planning Board approves draft decisions

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — The Planning Board considered projects at 271 Main St., 619 Main St., 181 & 187 Ballardvale St., 6 Waltham St., 38 Upton Drive, and 11 Commonwealth Ave. during their meeting on Tuesday, June 4.

The board voted to close the public hearing and approve the draft conditions for the site plan review, stormwater management permit, and groundwater protection district special permit application for 619 Main St. The representative for this project stated that they understood the town engineer had no further issues.

Director of Planning and Conservation Valerie

Gingrich said that one special condition was for the plans to include additional required shrubs in order to meet plant density before endorsement.

Christine Han, representing the application for site plan review, stormwater management permit, and groundwater protection district special permit at 181 & 187 Ballardvale St., shared that the traffic analysis had been performed as requested but no changes were needed. They agreed to provide an easement along the front of the site and added the proposal of ADA-compliant gravel to cover the pathway connecting the buildings to Ballardvale Street.

The board voted to close the public hearing, but in this case a few amendments were needed to the drafted decisions as it related to the timing of the "do not block" intersection striping. The representative agreed that doing so prior to occupancy was acceptable, so the decisions were approved with that amendment.

The representative on behalf of the site plan review for AT&T mentioned that they didn't have the company's response to the conditions provided. Gingrich confirmed the peer review was received only earlier that day, and so the application was continued to July 2.

Employees of Davis Companies and Beales Associates spoke for the parking relief special permit requested for 38 Upton Drive. They mentioned that they were looking into leasing one of their buildings and selling the second building, and they needed to split the parking lot down the middle to meet the requirements for both buildings.

Chair Terri Boland commented that his concern was not so much parking relative to the special permit but shared systems between the two buildings. The board voted to continue this application.

Attorney Mike Newhouse talked about the 81G application for 11 Commonwealth Ave., describing that the road improvement and stormwater management plan was approved in 2022.

They were requesting some changes in the conditions placed at that time including roadway construction beginning within two years, and the recording of the easements prior to roadway construction. Boland asked to verify that the plans hadn't changed, which Newhouse did.

A few residents present in the meeting spoke up to highlight the stormwater management and drainage issues on the site. The board replied that there may be other town departments or boards that would be the more appropriate place to require the issues be resolved before further construction take place.

Newhouse stated that he

Ferdinand signs U.S. Term Limits for Congress Pledge

BY HEATHER BURNS
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — Last week, State Congressional candidate, George Ferdinand, announced he signed the U.S. Term Limits for Congress Pledge.

The U.S. Term Limits Pledge is provided to candidates and members of state legislature to sign as a promise to cosponsor, defend and vote for the resolution applying for an Article V convention for the sole purpose of enacting term limits on Congress.

In 1995, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that only a Constitutional Amendment could limit the term of a U.S. Senator or Representative.

Because the Constitution requires a two-thirds support of Congress in order to propose an amendment, the Term Limits Pledge is an important part of securing support in Congress for this proposal.

According to a national bipartisan poll conducted by Pew Research, 87% of voters favor term limits to members of Congress.

The Massachusetts Secretary of State Office has confirmed that George Ferdinand pulled nomination papers earlier this spring to run against incumbent Dave Robertson in the upcoming election for 19th District State Representative.

The 19th District State Representative serves precincts 2,4,5,6, and 8 of the Town of Tewksbury and all of the Town of Wilmington.

Plans to officially announce Ferdinand's campaign, titled "Contrast Campaign" will take place on July 4, 2024 in front of the Beacon Hill Gates.

Ferdinand was recently elected to the Tewksbury Board of Health in the April 2024 town election.

If elected as the State Representative for the 19th District, Ferdinand stated he would step down from his position on the Board of Health, although he plans to keep his seat on the Tewksbury Board of Health throughout the upcoming campaign season.

Mistakes happen:
Here's when to file
an amended return

Math errors and missing schedules don't usually require an amended return. Taxpayers usually do not need to file an amended return to fix a math error or if they forgot to attach a form or schedule. The IRS will correct the math error while processing the tax return and notify the taxpayer by mail. The agency will send a letter requesting any missing forms or schedules.

Here's when a taxpayer does need to file an amended return. A taxpayer will need to file an amended return if there's a change to their Filing status; Income; Deductions; Credits; or Tax liability.

How to file an amended tax return

Taxpayers should use Form 1040-X, Amended U.S. Individual Income Tax Return, to correct a previously filed Form 1040-series return or to change amounts previously adjusted by the IRS. Taxpayers can file Form 1040-X electronically for their 2020, 2021 or 2022 Forms 1040 or 1040-SR. Additionally, they can electronically amend Form 1040-NR and Form 1040-SS/PR for tax year 2021 and 2022. Taxpayers who file their amended return electronically may choose to receive any refund by direct deposit to their bank account. This option is not available for those who file on paper.

Taxpayers expecting a refund should not file an amended return before their original return has processed

The IRS issues most refunds in fewer than 21 days for taxpayers who filed electronically and chose direct deposit. Some returns have errors or need more review and may take longer to process.

Stay cool during National Iced Tea Month in June

By HEATHER BURNS
News Correspondent

As we enter the month of June, we are reminded of the familiar heat of the upcoming season has in store for us. This introduction to uncomfortable temperatures often begins our summer long search for simple ways to beat the heat.

There are many summertime refreshments to choose from in order to wet your whistle on a hot summer day, but there is nothing quite like the cool taste of a refreshing glass of iced tea.

June is the perfect time to reacquaint yourself with this classic American beverage during National Iced Tea Month.

Although most agree that hot tea drinking is something we acquired from our British ancestors, drinking cold tea is definitely not commonly found in the glasses of our British neighbors across the pond.

Cold tea consumption, known as iced tea, dates back to the mid-19th century

America, with recipes appearing in southern cookbooks prior to the Civil War.

In the south, iced tea is commonly referred to as sweet tea, which is simply brewed and strained tea served over ice with sugar and lemon.

Although popular in the south for decades, iced tea did not get its first nationwide tasting until the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair when the director of the East India Pavilion was frustrated by the lack of interest in his samples of hot tea.

It seemed that fair visitors were simmering under the hot Missouri sun, and had little interest in consuming a hot drink.

In order to boost consumption of his tea, the pavilion director chilled the tea through pipes immersed in ice. This cool, new drink became a hit with fairgoers, and its popularity soon spread throughout the U.S.

Even though this summer delight is still referred to as sweet tea in the southern region of our nation, be sure to use the proper terminology when ordering this beverage elsewhere in the country.

It is often referred to as ice tea, but the proper term is iced tea, as tea with ice is an "iced" beverage, rather than ice tea, which is a frozen treat.

Today, iced tea is a year-round staple, available in ready to drink canned and bottled varieties, as well as instant mixes that require only the addition of cold water.

Other new methods of preparing iced tea include sun-brewed, cold brew, and nitro tea have expanded on how we prepare tea.

Even dramatic innovations like bubble tea and lattes are part of the modern day iced tea experience.

For those who are 21 and older looking for a refreshing iced tea cocktail, there are many prepared varieties of "Hard Iced Teas" to choose from as well as favorite traditional cocktail recipes.

It may be interesting to note that one of the more well known spiked drinks known as "Long Island Iced Tea" does not actually have a drop of tea in it, but is made from several types of alcohol mixed with cola to give it an iced tea look.

If a genuine iced tea cocktail is what you are after, try making a batch of this simple recipe for Blackberry Bourbon Iced Tea. Despite its name, it can be served with or without alcohol for a refreshing summer evening treat.

To make this recipe you will need:

- three cups of fresh blackberries
- three-quarters cup sugar
- six black tea bags
- two tablespoons of chopped fresh mint, plus extra for garnish
- one-and-a-half quarts of water
- one shot per glass of good quality bourbon (optional)
- ice

Combine berries, sugar, and mint with a potato masher and let sit while you make the tea. Boil water and steep tea bags for three minutes. Pour tea over the berry/sugar mix and let sit for one hour. Then pour mixture through a strainer into a pitcher, pressing on the solids while straining. Refrigerate liquid tea mixture for at least two hours.

▲ Know as Sweet Tea in the southern region of our country, Iced Tea has been an American summertime tradition for generations. (Heather Burns photo)

Serve in tall glasses over ice and garnish with a fresh mint leaf.

For the 21-plus version, float a shot of your favorite bourbon on top of the tea mixture before serving.

National Iced Tea Month has been celebrated since 1994 to encourage experimenting with new flavors and preparations of this iconic summer treat.

Keep in mind as you celebrate National Iced Tea Month, that not only is this a great time to experiment with iced tea recipes, it is also a time to recognize that iced tea is a part of our nation's history and culture, and a great way to enjoy relaxing times with family and friends.

For more fun and innovative iced tea recipes, visit www.foodnetwork.com/national-iced-tea-month.

NOTE: Be advised when preparing sun brewed tea (tea that is brewed by the heat of sunlight rather than on a stovetop) that there is a risk of bacteria forming during the time the tea is in the sun, especially when sugar has been added.

This weekend we watched the Boston Glory take on the Philadelphia Phoenix at Hormel Stadium in Medford. The weather was perfect as the crowd, made up of veteran players, middle, high school, and college players, and regular spectators cheered them on. The sport? Ultimate frisbee.

Ultimate frisbee is a game that is played on high school fields, college campuses, corporate lunch breaks, and in recreation leagues around the country. The flying disc, or frisbee, is an iconic piece of molded plastic that has become a beloved part of the American tableau.

While tossing the disc with family members at a picnic or on the beach is fun, the disc — and the game — has evolved into an organized sport complete with teams, stadium play, fan clubs, and culture.

At the professional level, ultimate is taking off. Created in 2012, the American Ultimate Disc League started organized play amongst teams from around the country in an effort to raise the profile of the sport. Teams were initially split into east and west regions.

In 2024, the league rebranded into the Ultimate Frisbee Association after inking an agreement with the parent company of Wham-O, owner of the Frisbee brand and is now comprised of 25 teams in four regions.

The Boston Ultimate Disc Alliance, or BUDA, is the local organized league for amateur players, offering recreational teams at all levels, including youth clinics and summer leagues.

The professional game varies from the original, self-officiating game that most players are familiar with. The use of referees, an expansion of the field, deeper endzones, and a shorter stall count are just some of the changes. Play is fast, and crowds are wowed by hucks (long, field-length throws) and incredible defensive "sky" grabs to rival any Derek White or Jayson Tatum reach.

Ultimate frisbee is just like soccer in that one team must advance the frisbee into the opposing team's end zone in order to score a point. In Ultimate, once the disc is caught, the player may not run with it, and the teammates must "cut" or run toward the disc thrower to make themselves open to catch the disc.

Any play is made up of a series of throws back and forth to advance down the field. Turnovers and fouls are elements of the game as well. Play is supposed to be non-contact, but that is not always possible given aggressive competitive players. Similar to basketball contact fouls, players are penalized, and at the professional level, with a loss of yardage.

Professional games are played to a time limit, different than original ultimate which plays to a score. Play is divided into four, 12 minutes quarters with a 15 minute half time. The professional experience has all of the fan elements of a minor league baseball game, including activities for kids, middle school team showcases, professional DJ and announcers, and recognition of outstanding players. It was an affordable night out and certainly a fun experience.

Ultimate frisbee was in consideration for inclusion in the 2028 Olympic games in Los Angeles but unfortunately was dropped. It may still make an appearance as a demonstration sport, as other events such as sport climbing, breaking, and skateboarding have made it in.

Ultimate frisbee is growing in popularity across the country, so be sure to check out an accessible professional game — you may be inspired to pick up a disc yourself. Visit Watchufa.com and BUDA.org to find games and leagues nearby.

Healey-Driscoll Administration awards nearly $15M in Skills Capital Grants including to Shawsheen Tech

MARLBOROUGH — The Healey-Driscoll administration announced that it is awarding nearly $15 million in Skills Capital Grants to 65 high schools, colleges, and educational institutions including Shawsheen Valley Technical High School ($361,950).

This funding, announced at Assabet Valley Regional Vocational Technical High School, will support schools and institutions to upgrade technology and instructional lab spaces, expand career programs for young people and adults, and increase capacity in workforce training programs across Massachusetts.

"We want to ensure that what students learn in school helps them get where they want to go, while also meeting our workforce needs," said Governor Maura Healey. "These Skills Capital Grants will ensure our students and adult learners have access to innovative technology, equipment, and spaces to gain the skills they need to prepare them for successful careers in high demand industries."

"Schools receiving Skills Capital Grants partner with local businesses and align curriculum and credentials with industry standards, ensuring our students are prepared for when they enter the workforce," said Lieutenant Governor Kim Driscoll. "These grants are a win for our students, schools, employers and local communities."

The Skills Capital Grants are awarded by the state's Workforce Skills Cabinet, which brings together the Secretariats of Education, Labor and Workforce Development, Economic Development, and Health and Human Services. This Cabinet works to align education, economic development, and workforce policies to meet employers' demand for skilled workers in every region of Massachusetts. The competitive grants are awarded to educational institutions that demonstrate partnerships with local businesses, as well as align curriculum and credentials with industry demand to maximize hiring opportunities.

"Skills Capital grants provide students with the modern and immersive spaces and tools to prepare them for the workforce and successful careers," said Education Secretary Dr. Patrick Tutwiler. "These are the spaces, resources, and experiences that they deserve. I am so grateful for schools like Assabet Valley Technical High School that are utilizing these grants to reimagine student learning experiences with updated technology and equipment."

"As an initiative of the Workforce Skills Cabinet, the Skills Capital Grants provide valuable resources for our vocational schools to benefit students and adult learners with hands-on tools and equipment," said Secretary of Labor and Workforce Development Lauren Jones. "The Healey-Driscoll Administration appreciates partnering with awarded schools to collaborate in preparing our future workforce with critical skills training for career paths in fields like manufacturing, construction, and other trades."

Skills Capital Grants have improved learning experiences across several high demand fields, including to purchase training equipment aligned with current industry-standard technology and workforce demands in the automotive industry. The funds have also been used to modernize and expand instructional lab spaces to increase enrollment in HVAC programs and purchase new equipment to provide specialized training for careers in offshore wind projects, green technologies, and energy efficiency. Further, some organizations have used funding to purchase virtual reality equipment to help students with disabilities earn credentials that lead to professions in the health services industry, including certified nursing assistants.

"We want students to have learning experiences that are relevant, real-world and interactive, and Skills Capital Grants help make that possible," said Acting Commissioner of Elementary and Secondary Education Russell Johnston. "Working with the right equipment helps bring lessons to life and connect school to students' futures."

Assabet Valley Regional Vocational Technical High School has been awarded several Skills Capital Grants since fiscal year 2022, totaling $2,767,691, including nearly $500,000 from this round, which will support the school's Electrical and Automotive Technology programs to purchase training equipment aligned with current industry-standard technology and workforce demands.

Yesterday, Education Secretary Patrick Tutwiler, Labor and Workforce Development Secretary Lauren Jones, Acting Elementary and Secondary Education Commissioner Russell Johnston, Superintendent Ernest Houle, and local officials toured their new HVAC lab that was supported by more than $1.2 million from a previous round of Skills Capital Grants.

"Assabet Valley RVSD is honored to receive the FY24 Skills Capital Grant, enabling us to further enhance our Electrical and Automotive Technology programs. This grant reflects our commitment to meeting industry demands, expanding enrollment, and equipping our students with the skills for success in high-demand fields. We are grateful to the Healey-Driscoll Administration for the support that will empower our students to excel in their careers and post-secondary pursuits," said Assabet Valley RVSD Superintendent-Director, Ernest F. Houle.

"I am delighted to see Assabet Valley receive this grant to buy the equipment needed to ensure that students enter the workforce with the skills to succeed," said Representative Carmine Gentile (D-Sudbury). "We need more people going into the trades, which provide steady, good paying jobs for working people. Thank you to the Executive Office of Education and the Executive Office of Labor and Workforce Development for prioritizing this crucial workforce training."

"For over 50 years AVRTHS has been serving our region by providing our students with the critical technical skills needed to succeed in the world," said Representative Danielle Gregoire (D-4th Middlesex). "I am thrilled that our Administration has recognized this excellence and has awarded this critical grant, ensuring our students have the most updated resources and tools they need."

Reps. Moulton, Trahan commemorate D-Day in Normandy

WASHINGTON, DC — Massachusetts Congressman Seth Moulton (MA-06) and Congresswoman Lori Trahan (MA-03) are participating in a bipartisan congressional delegation traveling to Normandy, France to commemorate the 80th anniversary of the D-Day invasion.

On Thursday, June 6, the delegation took part in observances of the anniversary along with veterans and their families, active duty servicemembers, government, and military officials and foreign dignitaries.

"D-Day embodies our nation's bravery, strength, and resilience. 73,000 Americans landed on the beaches of Normandy on June 6, 1944. Over 2,500 Americans lost their lives that day, and then thousands more in the weeks and months that followed. Now is the time to take in the stories and lessons of our Greatest Generation while we still can. That generation came face to face with pure evil. In the darkest of days, they fought to restore light," said Congressman Moulton. "I'm honored to pay my respects and honor all of those who fought so valiantly with this bipartisan delegation."

"80 years ago, tens of thousands of courageous Americans mobilized in response to the rising tide of fascism sweeping Europe and turning its gaze toward our shores. They crossed the English Channel and stormed the beaches of Normandy, confronting fear with unwavering resolve as they began turning the tide against tyranny," said Congresswoman Trahan. "It's the honor of a lifetime to join veterans, families, leaders, and so many others in Normandy to pay tribute to those brave men and women who stepped up when we needed them most, many of whom made the ultimate sacrifice in defense of freedom and democracy."

"80 years ago, these brave servicemembers went directly into conflict because they knew that the future of civilization was at stake," said Democrat Leader Hakeem Jeffries. "We remember the remarkable courage under fire of our veterans and know that America is free only because of their extraordinary bravery. It is an honor to co-lead this delegation on behalf of the U.S. House of Representatives as we reaffirm America's commitment to stand with our allies and ensure that freedom and democracy will always prevail."

The delegation, which is led by House Speaker Mike Johnson, consists of more than 50 bipartisan members of Congress.

Book Stew Review

'Burn Book' by Kara Swisher

By EILEEN MACDOUGALL

This is an amazing recounting of the author's deep knowledge of the early (Steve Jobs) and late (Tik Tok guys) tech dubebs whose arrogance, immense wealth, and massive influence have ruled our lives since the dawn of the digital age.

As read by Kara Swisher herself (maybe not the best artistic choice but contributes to the reader's sense of her sincerity), her love of all things tech but loathing of phonies and sycophants is saturated with candor and genuine admiration for some, and contempt and loathing for most.

She finds them all to be working through childhood rejection issues by aggrandizing their own admittedly (in most cases) innovative skills and by refusing to admit to some very big and costly mistakes.

They're all here — Bezos, Jobs, Gates, Zuckerberg — and the most vicious tales are reserved for those whom Swisher finds truly repellent — venture ("vulture") capitalists: the creator of Uber, Travis Kalanick; the latest version of Elon Musk; and Rupert Murdoch, one of her former employers.

She's a good writer and is truly able to analyze her own flaws, while admitting that there's envy involved, as well.

Anyone who uses tech, and that's us all, will enjoy Swisher's three-decade journey behind the scenes of how our gadgets and toys sold by uncaring billionaires caused the scary surrender of our privacy.

OBITUARIES

Rose Marie (Polvere) Chase

Avid sports fan

Rose Marie (Polvere) Chase, age 80, a life-long resident of Wilmington, passed away peacefully at home on June 10, 2024, with her loving family at her side.

Rose was born in Dorchester, on Dec. 27, 1943; she was the cherished only child of the late James and Rose Marie (Peroni) Polvere.

Rose was raised and educated in Wilmington and a graduate of Wilmington High School with the Class of 1961 where she made many life-long friends.

Rose married "the love of her life" Leonard J. Chase on June 15, 1963; the couple bought their "forever home" in Wilmington and were surrounded by great neighbors who they considered family. Rose and Lenny spent many wonderful years together before his sudden passing in December of 2016.

Rose will be fondly remembered for many things but most importantly was her unconditional love and devotion to her family, friends, and her "kitties"; they were her world!

Rose had an endearing personality and people were drawn to her; she was extremely generous, and would do anything for anyone. Rose was very social; she made everyone in her presence feel welcomed and loved. She also had a great sense of humor; she loved to make people laugh and was known to pull a prank or two just for fun.

Rose was an avid fan and a true lover of all sports; she held her own with anyone when it came to statistics or a conversation about the latest teams, drafts, or controversy going on throughout the sports world. Rose especially loved professional football and Boomer Esiason was "her guy."

Rose was a special lady to so many people; she was beautiful inside and out and had a heart of gold. She is survived by many loving cousins, nieces, nephews, friends, and her beloved cat Spooky; she will forever be missed by all who knew and loved her.

Family and friends will gather for Visiting Hours at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave.

(Rt. 62), Wilmington, on Friday, June 14 from 4 - 8 p.m. A Graveside Service will be held on Saturday, June 15 at 10 a.m. in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. (please use 2nd entrance off of Wildwood Street).

In lieu of flowers, donations in Rose's memory may be made to St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, TN 38105 or to the MSPCA at Nevins Farm, 400 Broadway, Methuen, MA 01844.

Joanne (Miller) Merrill

Devoted animal lover

Joanne (Miller) Merrill, aged 68, of Wilmington, passed away peacefully at her home early on the morning of June 4, surrounded by her loving family.

She was the beloved wife of the late Ernest "Ernie" Merrill, sharing 45 years of marriage until his passing in 2019.

Born on March 17, 1956, to the late Joan L. and Harold "Mike" Miller, Joanne was a lifelong resident of Wilmington and an alumna of Wilmington High School.

Her career was marked by determination and resilience; she rose through the ranks at Compugraphic/Agfa to become a manager and later pursued an associate's degree in business after a layoff in her 50s, culminating her professional journey as a buyer at Evoqua Water Technologies.

Joanne's zest for life was evident in her love for travel, especially her trips to Florida with Ernie, where they enjoyed the sunsets and shell-collecting on Sanibel Island. Salisbury Beach held a special place in her heart, where she and her family created countless memories camping annually.

A devoted animal lover, Joanne's home was never without pets, particularly her beloved German Shepherd, Max, and the cherished visits from her Family was the cornerstone of Joanne's world. She embraced every moment with them, from holiday gatherings to weekend sleepovers, always believing that "Family is Everything."

"grand dogs."

Being called Grammie gave her the greatest pleasure in life and she cherished every opportunity to be involved in her grandchildren's lives, whether attending their sports events, favorite activities or simply enjoying their company during legendary sleepovers with her favorite sister, Auntie Lou. If she could not be in attendance at an event she delighted in hearing every detail relayed back to her.

Joanne is survived by her children, Ernest "EJ" Merrill Jr. and his wife Angela of Wilmington, Christopher Merrill and his wife Sharon of Billerica, and Melissa Glidden and her husband Christopher of Chelmsford.

She also leaves behind her loved ones, Carol Howard of Londonderry, NH and Shannon Richardson of Billerica, whom she loved like daughters.

Her legacy continues through her grandchildren, Alex Merrill of Londonderry, NH, Cameron Kubiak of Billerica, Alexis, Madelyn, Lucas Glidden of Chelmsford, and Avery Merrill of Wilmington.

She leaves behind Lapor-sha Moses with whom she developed a bond akin to that of a granddaughter.

Joanne was the mother-in-law of the late Jeffrey Heroux.

She will be fondly remembered by her siblings, and numerous nieces, nephews, and cousins, all of whom she loved with all her heart.

Family and friends gathered for visitation on Sunday, June 9, from 1 - 4 pm at Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave., (Rt. 62), Wilmington, followed by a funeral service at 4 p.m.

The family extends their heartfelt gratitude to Extended Family of Lowell, Compassionate Care ALS, and Care Dimensions Hospice for their exceptional care and support. In lieu of flowers, donations in Joanne's memory to any of these organizations would be greatly appreciated.

William David 'Bill' Falter, Sr.

Worked for the Town of Wilmington

William David "Bill" Falter, Sr., age 79, of Wilmington, formerly of Somerville, passed away on May 30, 2024.

Bill was born on Dec. 24, 1944, in Boston; he was the cherished son of the late John and Helen (Harwood) Falter. Bill was raised in Cambridge and later moved to Somerville.

Bill married Frances E. (Sheehan) Falter and the couple settled in Somerville, where they raised their four children, Kimberley, Bill, Jr., Debbie, and Brenda.

Family was most important to Bill, and he loved spending time with his children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. When the family got together, they looked forward to listening to music, dancing, and joking around. Bill loved to crack jokes and watch the kids laugh and play.

Bill moved to Wilmington over 26 years ago. He worked for the Town of Wilmington.

Bill was an avid sports fan; he enjoyed watching his Dallas Cowboys, Baltimore Orioles, Boston Bruins, and the Boston Celtics with his family.

Bill attended all the games his children and grandchildren played in. He was the kids' #1 fan and #1 critic. They could count on Bill to be at hockey, football, and baseball games, as well as the annual dance recitals for his granddaughters.

Bill had a passion for cars; he was so proud of the Corvette and Cadillac he once owned. He enjoyed taking his short rides around town visiting his local stores and listening to his "oldies" music while enjoying his day.

Bill will be remembered as having a great personality and loved to make people feel special. He never forgot a single birthday card for any of his four children, 11 grandchildren, or his nine great grandchildren. Bill was proud of the family he created and always put his family first. Each member of Bill's family knew how much they were loved.

Bill was the beloved husband of Frances E. (Sheehan) Falter of Tewksbury, devoted father of Kimberley J. Rennell and her husband Anthony of NH, William David Falter, Jr. and his wife Lori of Wilmington, Debbie Sullivan and her husband Bobby of Medford, and Brenda Arsenault and her husband Stephen of Tewksbury, loving "Grandpa" of Anthony Rennell and his wife Danielle, Ashley Rennell, Kayla A. Falter, William F. Falter, Robert Sullivan and his wife Janessa, Bryanna Gaimo and her husband Matthew, Brandie Bottari and her husband Christopher, Janelle Sullivan and Kyle Byrd, Matthew Sullivan and Brooke Rosselle, Amber Arsenault, "Great-Grandpa" of Julianna Ramos, Anthony Rennell, Jr., Julius Ramos, Jakobe Ramos, Gianna Sullivan, Robert Sullivan, Matthew Gaimo, Marco Gaimo, and Angela Bottari.

Bill was the dear brother of Warren Falter, the late Shirley Murphy, Judith A. Aylward McCormick, Lawrence Falter and Robert Falter.

He is also survived by many loving nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements for Bill are private.

Memorial donations in Bill's name may be made to the Wounded Warrior Project. www.wounded-warriorproject.org/donate.

Heinz W. Stemmler

Had a love for photography

Heinz W. Stemmler, age 96, a long-time resident of Wilmington, passed away peacefully on June 9, 2024.

Heinz was the beloved husband to the love of his life, the late Claire Stemmler. Together they shared 55 years of marriage.

Heinz was born on Dec. 23, 1927, in Ron an der Weil, a small, picturesque village in Hesse, Germany to the late Alfred Stemmler and late Johanna (Henz) Stemmler.

He spent his childhood in Frankfurt and Merzhause, Germany. Heinz attended college in Germany and apprenticed as a drafting Engineer. In 1946 he had his first job in an engineering department in Frankfurt, Germany.

In the spring of 1953, Heinz came upon an ad for an American-based company looking for engineers and later that fall Heinz made his way to the United States by way of a small steamship, entering first in Quebec and then making his way to Boston.

His life in his new country had now begun. What started out initially as a two-year contract began a new permanent life. Heinz did return to Germany in 1956 to recruit several more employees for his company, all of which became lifelong friends.

Heinz worked for International Shoe Machinery as a design engineer; he continued this profession until his retirement in 1992.

Heinz and Claire met here in the United States in 1955 and were married in May of 1958 at Holy Trinity Church in Boston. They made Wilmington their home in 1964, raised their three children there and have remained there for the past 60 years.

Heinz loved to spend time outdoors and travel. For many years summer family vacations were spent at Sebago Lake in Maine. This tradition grew as his children got older and extended family, friends and eventually grandchildren joined.

He loved to cook his famous morning "camp" breakfast and enjoyed spending time out on the water. After his tent trailer days were over, he purchased a motor home and he and Claire started exploring the United States going on many trips throughout the country.

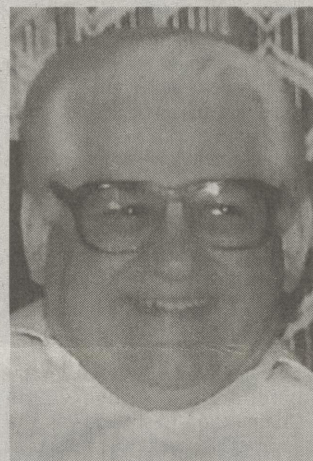

His highlight was a 3-month trip cross country. Heinz and Claire also travelled several times to their home in Germany and visited other countries in Europe.

When Heinz was younger his love was his motorcycle, he would spend time riding with his buddies in Germany. At the age of 50, together with his two sons, they all purchased motorcycles and spent their weekends exploring New England.

Heinz had a love for photography; he belonged to camera clubs and was the family photographer. Every event was captured by his keen eye for pictures. Countless albums of pictures have memories of a lifetime of events.

Heinz was very dedicated to his family and to his grandchildren. He spent his time helping with projects at every opportunity and was present at sports, dance, and school events for his grandchildren. His greatest joy was with his family. He loved the company of others and was known for his warm and welcoming personality.

Heinz is survived by his son Michael Stemmler and his wife Michelle Stemmler of Lawrence, his son Ronald Stemmler and his wife Cheryl Stemmler of Wilmington and his daughter Monika Wright and her husband Grant Wright of New Boston, NH; six grandchildren: Shawna Stemmler of Haverhill, Ryan Stemmler of Waltham, Derek Stemmler of Wilmington, Meghan Stemmler of Wilmington, Brittny Viola and her husband

Nicholas Viola of Portland, Maine and Colby Wright of New Boston, NH; his sister Irene (Stemmler) Moses of Merzhause, Germany and many loving nieces and nephews in both the United States and Germany.

Heinz was predeceased by his brothers Helmut Stemmler, Rudolf Stemmler, Karl Stemmler and his sister Hildegard (Stemmler) Schuettrumpf.

Heinz was proudly awaiting the arrival of his first great-grandchild due later this year.

Family and friends are welcome to join a Celebration of life for Heinz at 10:30 a.m. with services beginning at 11 a.m. on June 20, 2024, at Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington. Interment following the celebration will be private.

Memorial Donations can be made to: The Buzzell Senior Center, 15 School Street, Wilmington, MA, 01887.

Heinz's family would like to express their sincere thanks to the loving care given at Winchester Hospital Hospice and all the teams of doctors and dedicated nurses in his care. Also, to the Wilmington Fire Department and EMT's, the staff and community of The Buzzell Senior Center and Windsor Assisted Living in Wilmington.

He was one blessed man!!!

CITATION GIVING NOTICE OF CONSERVATOR'S ACCOUNT

Docket No. MI23P0734PM

In the matter of:
Paul M. Sheehan Of: Wilmington, MA
Protected Person/
Disabled Person/Respondent

To the named Respondent and all other interested persons, you are hereby notified pursuant to Rule 72 of the Supplemental Rules of the Probate & Family Court, that the 1st account(s) of Paul F Sheehan of Wilmington, MA, Blanche V Sheehan of Wilmington, MA as Conservator of the property of said Respondent has or have been presented to the Court for allowance.

You have the right to object to the account(s). If you wish to do so, you or your attorney must file a written appearance and objection at this court on or before 10:00 A.M., on the return date of 06/27/2024. This day is NOT a hearing date, but a deadline date by which you have to object to the account(s). If you fail to file the written appearance and objection by the return date, action may be taken in this matter without further notice to you, including the allowance of the account(s).

Additionally, within thirty days after said return day (or within such other time as the Court upon motion may order), you must file a written affidavit of objections stating the specific facts and grounds upon which each objection is based and a copy shall be served upon the Conservator pursuant to Rule 3 of the Supplemental Rules of the Probate & Family Court.

You have the right to send to the Conservator, by registered or certified mail, a written request to receive a copy of the Petition and account(s) at no cost to you.

IMPORTANT NOTICE
The outcome of this proceeding may limit or completely take away the above-named person's right to make decisions about personal affairs or financial affairs or both. The above-named person has the right to ask for a lawyer. Anyone may make this request on behalf of the above-named person. If the above-named person cannot afford a lawyer, one may be appointed at State expense.

Local students graduate from American International College

SPRINGFIELD —American International College (AIC) held its 139th commencement ceremony on May 11 at the Mass Mutual Center in Springfield, celebrating more than 600 graduates in the Class of 2024.

• Edward Kaizer of Wilmington received a Master of Education degree in the Middle School Education program.

• John Golojuch of Wilmington received a Master of Science degree in the Criminal Justice program.

• Scott Hynes of Tewksbury received a Master of Education degree in the Moderate Disabilities program.

• Erica Randall of Tewksbury received a Master of Education degree in the Moderate Disabilities program.

Keynote speaker Michael D. Smith — the CEO of AmeriCorps — regaled graduates, their families, and AIC faculty and staff with stories from his youth, growing up in the McKnight neighborhood of Springfield. Smith spoke of how being part of a community at the Boys and Girls Club of Springfield planted the seeds for his future in which he leads the country's largest public volunteer force.

The ceremony saw 216 bachelor's degrees, 279 master's, seventy-two certificates of graduate study, and thirty-six doctorates awarded. The College's Interim President Nicole Cestero invited the soon-to-be alumni to maintain close ties with their alma mater. "Return to the College often and stay connected with the community that has shaped you into the remarkable individual you are today. Whatever tomorrow holds for you, remember the lessons you've learned here, the challenges you've overcome, and the dreams that have fueled your aspirations."

believed his client would take care of the identified issues.

The board continued this project to July 2.

The only one of these requested to be continued without any discussion that night was the site plan review, stormwater management permit, and groundwater protection district special permit at 271 Main St. Gingrich explained that the project awaited the completion of sewer and water peer reviews before the plans could be revised and resubmitted.

The board approved requests to release the surety for Green Meadow Drive on behalf of Joseph Langone and the building at 16 Darby Lane on behalf of James Castellano.

Regarding Zoning Board of Appeals cases at 11 Redwood Terrace, the board recommended the former be withdrawn and resubmitted when information was gathered and the latter be supported.

Gingrich later announced that she and Planner/Economic Development Coordinator Jayne Wierzbicki would attend the Wilmington Community Night and also participate in a WCTV interview in July. She also mentioned that the town clerk is trying to set up a special Town Meeting ideally for a date between mid-November and early December.

Gingrich also provided construction updates for North Wilmington Estates, where she said they received the last building permit application, Darby Lane in that a Benevento truck had arrived before working hours but stopped from working, and that Woburn Street from Lowell Street to Perry Avenue was still closed because of water main work.

Board recognizes Cimaglia for work as interim town manager

He next recalled that it had been seven months since former Town Manager Jeff Hull retired, and Lou Cimaglia had served as temporary town manager from Nov. 1. He also stated that Cimaglia had done a wonderful job and presented Cimaglia with a gift on behalf of the board.

"We know you're not going anywhere," Bendel told him.

Returning to the search process, Bendel reminded the community that the board set up a town manager search committee made up of residents, hired a search firm who filed three dozen applicants down to four, held public interviews with the four candidates, and unanimously voted upon hiring Slagle. He also said that Kevin Caira and Lilia Maselli did a great job with the negotiations.

Slagle replied to thank the board for this opportunity. He said he was really excited to do everything he could to move the town forward in a lot of different facets. He thanked Cimaglia for his work keeping the town moving forward over the past seven months, even if it wasn't visible.

He also appreciated the warm welcome he'd received by town staff so far, especially Judy O'Connell, and said he looked forward to working with them all.

Gary DePalma wished Slagle the best of luck.

"The more you move forward, the more the town's going to move forward," he said. "I feel that we did select the right person."

He said that the full endorsement of the board showed their value and trust in him.

Kevin Caira welcomed Slagle and said he looked forward to working with him. He trusted that folks would step forward and help Slagle as he gets situated.

Frank West said that the town has great staff and employees, and he promised that any board member or department head would be willing to answer questions and otherwise assist him.

Lilia Maselli said the board would be happy to help guide him, but he would also be in good hands among the town employees. She mentioned that there are strong members of every department in terms of staff.

Bendel said Slagle would be seen around town and he would find Wilmington to be a great place to be and to work.

"Your success is our success," he said. "We wish you a lot of it."

They then approved a request from John Romano on behalf of the Sons and Daughters of Italy to use the town common to hold a yard sale fundraiser on Saturday, Sept. 7 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., with a rain date of the 14th. Slagle shared confirmation that the town had no conflicts for that date.

There was also a request approved made by Stephanie Rios Acevedo to amend the flammable license for Cumberland Farms 2479-730 for the property at 205 Main St. Slagle shared this was signed off by the fire chief and there were no concerns from the town.

In announcements, West announced the upcoming flag retirement ceremony at Wilmington Minutemen headquarters this Thursday at 6 p.m.

Caira also took a moment to recognize Cimaglia for his work as temporary town manager.

"The community needed a person like you and you did a great job," he said.

The Salute to Service that night honored Colonel Adam J. Boyd, who Bendel said was the town's keynote speaker at the Memorial Day ceremony. He explained that Boyd grew up in Bedford, enlisted in the army in 1983, graduated from the military academy in 1994, and went on several deployments while he rose in rank to commander and then to colonel.

He shared that Boyd had been the recipient of many awards. He also mentioned that Boyd and his wife, now residents of Wilmington, raised two children currently serving in the army.

The board will meet again on Monday, June 24 at 7 p.m.

Woburn officials revoke zoning regs to prevent overdevelopment

By PATRICK BLAIS

WOBURN - As a larger debate rages over the state's controversial MBTA Communities' regulations and other initiatives aimed at promoting the creation of more housing inventory, a handful of city leaders in Woburn earlier this spring sprung into action to safeguard the character of the municipality's traditional single and two-family neighborhoods.

Earlier this spring, Woburn City Councilors Darlene Mercer-Bruen and Lou DiMambro argued that the city's 40-year-old "cluster development" zoning regulations could be easily abused by unscrupulous out-of-town investors and real-estate entities who are reportedly scooping up large numbers of single-family homes and odd lots across the community.

Convinced the threat was real, Woburn's Planning Board, which acts in an advisory role to the City Council on zoning legislation, would agree with Mercer-Bruen and DiMambro's assessment and recommend the dissolution of the antiquated regulations.

"I think of the City Council as the people who set policy. They're the people elected to affect the big choices, like: What does our city look like [and] what sort of buildings should be built here?," said Planning Board member Claudia Leis Bolgen. "If our policy makers say this can be abused in a way we don't want, I would say it makes sense to repeal it."

Weeks later, during a late March meeting in City Hall, the full City council would unanimously vote to jettison the cluster development zoning provisions.

Until last fall, just one developer, who erected Woburn's 94-unit Quail Run housing complex on the city's West Side, had taken advantage of Woburn's cluster development regulations since they were enacted back in 1985.

In a common arrangement that led to "cluster development" name, builders pursuing such projects frequently crowd new homes or townhouse-style duplexes around a central "common" area that comprises at least 30 percent of the overall development's land mass.

That green-space must also be deed restricted for open-space or conservation purposes, and cluster developments under Section 10 of the zoning ordinance are not allowed on any parcel containing less than five acres.

Per the zoning concept, developers are allowed to build single-and-two-family housing complexes on parcels with standard lot sizes, so long as that missing difference is made up when sizing the green-spaces those dwelling units are clustered round.

In October of 2023, Woburn native Christopher Natale attempted to become the second person to successfully construct a cluster development within the city after approaching the City Council and proposing a zoning amendment that would have also allowed three and four-unit housing configurations within such projects.

At the time, Natale and his partners at JDC Realty Trust were eyeing a potential redevelopment of six-acres of land off of West Dexter Avenue by the Altavesta School. Much of the land that would be used to create the "open-space" component of the would-be cluster development consisted of wetlands areas surrounding Halls Brook.

DiMambro, whose North Woburn district included the six-acres of land in question, balked at the idea of allowing three-and-four family homes within a neighborhood that generally consisted of smaller single-family houses and a handful of two-families. The Ward 6 alderman also contended that by taking advantage of the cluster development regs, the local resident was essentially classifying unwanted swampland as "open space" and in return getting to maximize the number of homes that could be built on the remainder of the site.

"I don't like [the idea of allowing three-and-four family homes]. I think it should be strictly two-families," later said DiMambro of the most controversial element of the zoning amendment. "My fear is developers and real-estate people will go out and start gobbling up houses."

Natale, who had managed to acquire a series of homes with his siblings within the North Woburn neighborhood over a number of decades, ultimately shelved the proposal. However, while trying to convince the council to pass the zoning change, he insisted that no local businessman would ever be able afford the cost of acquiring five contiguous acres of land for other cluster developments in North Woburn or any other area of the city.

"My situation is unique. My brothers and I worked hard and purchased these properties over a 30-year period. Anybody else who tried to do what we're doing would have to pay an exorbitant amount of money to get five-acres of land. It wouldn't be cheap enough for them to do a cluster development," the petitioner said.

Corporate homeowners

As it turns out, months after Natale insisted no person would ever be able to patch together enough land to pursue a cluster development, DiMambro and Mercer-Bruen discovered otherwise.

Highlighting an alarming trend where hedge funds and private-equity groups are looking to cash-in on the state's record-high housing prices by scooping up real-estate in Woburn and beyond, both city councilors began sounding the alarm last winter after hearing that at least two other real-estate entities had been paying close attention to the debate over Natale's proposed zoning amendment months earlier.

Mercer-Bruen and DiMambro, whose respective East Woburn and North Woburn neighborhoods have been transformed dramatically over the past decade in the midst of a construction boom largely centered on apartment complexes, insisted the city had to act to prevent a further erosion of the community's traditional neighborhoods.

"I've seen a trend in our neighborhoods where big corporations are purchasing single-family homes. And I don't mean LLCs. I mean big corporations where you can't even find out who's running them," Mercer-Bruen warned during a Planning Board meeting in March.

"What came to my mind as we were discussing a previous cluster development was [a remark by the petitioner that] it would

Will Smith is back in 'Bad Boys: Ride or Die'

BAD BOYS FOR LIFE - Will Smith, left, and Martin Lawrence in "Bad Boys: Ride or Die" from Sony Pictures. (Frank Masi/Columbia Pictures-Sony via AP)

By JAKE COYLE
AP Film Writer

"Bad Boys: Ride or Die," the fourth installment in the Will Smith - Martin Lawrence action-comedy series, is about a fight to redeem a tarnished legacy.

No, not that one. The reputation of Conrad Howard (Joe Pantoliano), the beloved captain of detectives Mike (Smith) and Marcus (Lawrence), has been posthumously besmirched. After his death, Conrad is framed as an informant for a Mexican drug cartel as a way to cloak more sinister corruption. Our detectives set out to clear his name.

Of course, the real image restoration that's going on here is for Smith. "Ride or Die" was in development in 2022 when Smith strode onto the Oscar stage and smacked Chris Rock. The film was temporarily put on hold. Options were weighed. But 2020's "Bad Boys for Life" made a hefty $424.6 million before COVID-19 shut down theaters. Watcha gonna do?

The result is the first movie Smith has made in that era defined as Post Slap. Here he is, back in the driver's seat and flying around the Miami waterfront with Lawrence riding shotgun. That's to say: Smith is very much back in his element.

"Ride or Die," which opens in theaters Thursday, is an attempt to pretend there haven't been any bumps in the road along the way. More than that, this "Bad Boys," coming 29 years after the original, would like very much to act as if nothing much has changed in not just the last two years but in the previous three decades.

Some signs of age is creeping in "Ride or Die." Marcus has a heart attack on the dance floor and Mike is suffering from panic attacks. But with the exception of a drone or two, this is a movie that feels like it exists in the 1990s. Jerry

HomeNewsHere RECIPE

DIP IT - Get out your trusty skillet, because this easy, cheesy skillet queso recipe kicks off any game day gathering with a big punch of flavor! It's fully loaded with savory ground beef, green chiles and toppings of fresh cilantro, tomato and green onion—making this creamy, ultra-hearty skillet queso dip anything but boring.

STEPS
In 10-inch cast-iron or nonstick skillet, cook beef and onions over medium-high heat 6 to 8 minutes, stirring occasionally, until beef is brown; drain. Decrease heat to medium. Stir in taco seasoning mix, red pepper and chiles. Cook 1 to 2 minutes longer or until slightly thickened. Remove from heat; spread beef mixture into even layer.

Meanwhile, in large microwavable bowl, mix cheeses and milk. Microwave uncovered on High 4 minutes; stir; then microwave in 30-second intervals until cheese melts and mixture is easily stirred smooth. Pour over beef mixture in skillet. Top with tomato,

Ingredients

- 1 lb. lean (at least 80%) ground beef
- 1 cup diced onions
- 1 packet (1 oz) Old El Paso™ Original Taco Seasoning Mix
- 1/4 teaspoon ground red pepper (cayenne)
- 1 can (4 oz) Old El Paso™ Chopped Green Chiles
- 8 oz Kraft™ Velveeta™ original prepared cheese product, cut in 1/2-inch cubes (from 16-oz package)
- 2 cups shredded pepper Jack cheese (8 oz) or Monterey Jack (8 oz)
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/4 cup diced tomato
- 2 tablespoons sliced green onions
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh cilantro leaves
- Tortilla chips, as desired

green onions and cilantro. Serve with tortilla chips.

EXPERT TIPS

If desired, serve your skillet queso with additional toppings like hot sauce, sour cream, sliced jalapeño chiles or guacamole.

REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS FOR PROFESSIONAL ENGINEERING SERVICES IN CONNECTION WITH THE DEVELOPMENT OF A FUEL CELL GENERATING FACILITY WITH CARBON CAPTURE FOR THE READING MUNICIPAL LIGHT DEPARTMENT RFQ 2024-34

The Reading Municipal Light Department ("RMLD") is requesting qualified engineering firms to submit applications stating their qualifications to provide engineering services in connection with the planning, development, procurement, construction, and testing of a fuel cell generating facility with carbon capture. RMLD is seeking to hire an Owner's Engineer to provide technical expertise and project development support and assistance for all phases of the Project.

RMLD is requesting professional engineering firms to submit sealed responses to this Request for Qualifications ("RFQ"), by the date and time set forth below, stating their qualifications to furnish Owner's Engineer services in connection with the planning, development, procurement, construction, and testing of a 20MW fuel cell generating facility with carbon capture to be located in the Town of Wilmington, Massachusetts in RMLD's electric service territory ("Project"). The Project will consist of enclosed fuel cell generating units and separate carbon capture equipment that would be attached to the exhaust manifolds of the fuel cell generating units. The Project includes the purchasing of all equipment, construction, assembly, testing, and commissioning services, which RMLD intends to procure through the selected Engineering, Procurement, and Construction ("EPC") contractor.

RMLD is seeking to engage the services of a qualified professional engineering firm with demonstrated experience and expertise in the design, development and oversight of similar design-build generating plant projects to serve as RMLD's Owner's Engineer in all phases of the Project. Experience with fuel cell technology is preferred. Minimum and preferred qualifications are set forth in the RFQ documents. Services include, but are not limited to, providing assistance as needed with obtaining approval from the Office of the Inspector General to utilize the design-build process under M.G.L. c. 149A, §§ 14-21, performing pre-liminary studies, preparing cost analyses, assisting with project scheduling, preparing specifications, assisting with air and noise permitting, assisting with the development of procurement procedures and the preparation of bid documents, evaluating potential EPC contractors, evaluating bid responses from EPC contractors, negotiating price and non-price terms with the selected EPC contractor, performing construction oversight, performing change order management, overseeing testing, performing contract administration services and assisting with development of a long-term service arrangement. RMLD reserves the right to negotiate the scope of services based on its needs. The selection process is governed by M.G.L. c. 7C, §§ 44-57 (the "Designer Selection Statute") and RMLD's Designer Selection procedures. Price will be negotiated by RMLD.

RMLD reserves the right to accept any proposal in whole or in part, and to reject any or all responses, to waive informalities in qualifications, to cancel this RFQ if it is in the RMLD's interest to do so, and to award the contract in the best interest of RMLD.

Each Applicant agrees to waive any claim it has or may have against RMLD and its officers and employees arising out of or in connection with the administration, evaluation or recommendation of any response submitted in response to this RFQ.

Sealed responses shall be marked with the name and address of the Applicant and the words, "Owner's Engineer - Carbon Capture Fuel Cell Generating Project" and shall be received by Reading Municipal Light Plant, Purchasing Department, 230 Ash Street, Reading, MA 01867, ATTN: Paula O'Leary, by July 3, 2024, at 11:00 a.m., at which time all responses will be recorded. No responses will be accepted after the time and date specified and there must be no mention of the Applicant's fee(s) in the response. Any late entries or mention of fees will be grounds for disqualification.

RFQ documents may be obtained at RMLD's Purchasing Department, 230 Ash Street, Reading, MA 01867 or by emailing Paula O'Leary at poleary@RMLD.com.

Questions concerning the RFQ must be submitted in writing by 5 p.m. on June 26, 2024, addressed to Paula O'Leary via email at poleary@rmlld.com. Written responses to questions will be sent via addendum by email to all vendors on record of having received the RFQ from the Purchasing Department.

• WOBURN FROM B-1

be almost impossible for more of these developments to happen because you needed five acres. But you can get there with patience and money. And that's my concern in seeing this trend in real-estate," added the East Woburn representative.

DiMambro, contrasting Woburn's carefully laid out and meticulously landscaped Quail Run complex with the cluster project proposed months earlier, also contended that out-of-town developers would have no issue abusing the intent of the underlying zoning ordinance by slating wetlands and swamps, ledge-riddled terrain, and other lots with unusual features as the "open space" portion of the project.

DiMambro also feared that in places like North Woburn, which is already dealing with the traffic and infrastructure impacts of the now decade-long housing boom, those deep-pocketed corporate developers will eventually cause citywide on-street parking shortages, issues with snow plowing operations, and strains on Woburn's water and sewer infrastructure.

"I just don't think it's fair to the residents to have [a developer] all of a sudden stitch together these little parcels of land over the next four or five years [for a project] with 30 or 40 units," said DiMambro. "You can't use any of [the open-space they'll be setting aside, because it will be all rocks or swamps]. It's not like you can play waffle ball there. People won't be able to go walking there with their dog."

"We should have the foresight to look down the road to 10 or 15 years from now and say, 'We're saving people from a lot of heartache and angina by thinking this through. Because if we don't, we'll be stuffed and the bag will break,'" the North Woburn official added.

A more exhaustive zoning review Since repealing Woburn's cluster development regs, both the Planning Board and various members of the City Council have begun calling for the revival of a Zoning Ordinance Review Committee (ZORC) to conduct a more exhaustive review of the city's zoning rules.

For example, during a meeting in City Hall in early March, since retired Planning Director Tina Cassidy pointed out that Woburn has another variation of the cluster development ordinance on the books that relates to townhouse developments on parcels of land with at least 18 acres.

Though most presume the community has no undeveloped private parcels of land of that size left that could be utilized for such a project, Mercer-Bruen and DiMambro believe all outdated zoning concepts should be reconsidered to prevent further encroachment of multi-family housing units into traditional neighborhoods.

The second variation of the cluster zoning regs were established back in the 1990s to facilitate the redevelopment of the old Winning Farm site in West Woburn by the Winchester line. Under the zoning provision, developers with large tracts of land (at least 36 acres) can construct townhomes on parcels of land zoned for single-family housing, but in exchange the developer must donate at least half of their acreage to the community for open space or conservation uses.

Woburn Mayor Michael Concannon, who has voiced his support of reforming ZORC, has agreed the committee, which historically consisted of a combination of City Council and Planning Board members, would be useful as the municipality determines how it will come into compliance with the state's MBTA Communities mandates.

Woburn, along with scores of other cities and towns across Massachusetts, have until Dec. 31 to come into compliance with MBTA Communities law, which will require Woburn to rezone at least 50-acres of land within a half-mile radius of Anderson Regional Transportation Center off of Commerce Way for by-right multi-family housing projects. At a minimum, those new zoning districts must be sufficiently sized to allow for a total of 2,631 new condos, apartments, or other types of multi-unit dwellings.

In the spring of 2016, a resident, concerned about development proposals being shuffled over to ZORC instead of being vetted entirely at more prominent Planning Board or City Council hearings, challenged that practice and inquired about the genesis of the government body.

Former City Solicitor Ellen Callahan-Doucette while investigating that complaint realized the group was technically never legitimized by a formal order of the City Council, and as a result, the advisory board was disbanded.

At one point being just a Planning Board subcommittee, ZORC's membership was expanded in 2006 to include City Council appointees during discussions about creating the St. Anthony's Church overlay in North Woburn, as well as the community's original Commerce Way Corridor Overlay District regulations.

In the years thereafter, ZORC vetted a number of other proposals, including new rules governing no-disturb buffer zones between commercial and residential properties, and the potential establishment of an in-law or accessory apartment ordinance.

Local officials originally intended to use ZORC as a mechanism to review city-led planning initiatives, as opposed to zoning changes pitched in reaction to petitions proposed by private developers. However, that line slowly became blurred over time.

The City Council is currently vetting a proposal to revive ZORC to consist of seven total members, including four Planning Board designers and three City Council representatives. The group will be charged with making proactive changes to Woburn's zoning code and analyzing the impacts of similar initiatives being proposed by both the state and private developers.

The proposal is currently being vetted by a council subcommittee.

Wilmington Police Log

Arlington man arrested for second offense OUI-Liquor

Friday, May 31:

1:11 a.m.: Police spotted a man walking down Lowell Street near the Burger King, but he disappeared soon after. Police were able to locate him at Mobile, where it was discovered he was walking home to Reading, after missing the train and having his phone die. He brought a charger from Mobile, and was going to take an Uber the rest of the way home.

11:16 a.m.: A manager at the 99 Restaurant on Lowell Street reported that some gift cards were purchased with stolen credit cards.

12:22 p.m.: A black 2020 Chevy Equinox and a blue 2018 Nissan Altima were involved in a motor vehicle accident in the parking lot of the Target on Ballardvale Street, also involving a parked white 2019 Volkswagen Atlas and a blue 2021 Honda Odyssey. At least one person was injured.

Saturday, June 1:

1:28 a.m.: Marc A Graci of 26 Hodge Road, in Arlington, was arrested for a 2nd offense of OUI-Liquor over .08%, improper operation of a motor vehicle, and possessing an open container of alcohol in a motor vehicle. This followed a stop of his black 2017 Lexus ES350 near the CVS on Main Street.

4:24 a.m.: A black 2018 Toyota Corolla was involved in a motor vehicle accident on the I-93 NB31. The airbag was deployed, and one occupant complained of rib pain and requested an evaluation, but the driver denied needing medical attention.

4:49 a.m.: Ysmael Tejada Polanco of 2 Grove St., in Methuen, was issued a summons for operating an uninsured motor vehicle, operating an unregistered motor vehicle, and not having a valid inspection sticker. This followed a stop of his green 2001 Honda CR-V on Lowell Street.

Sunday, June 2:

1:57 a.m.: Wilmington police assisted state police with a case of a man assaulting another man and fleeing in a gray 2021 Toyota Rav4, where they asked Wilmington police to check if the vehicle is at its registered address. The man was found and was issued a summons by state police.

11:56 a.m.: A gray 2013 Honda Accord sideswiped a white 2019 Ford F-150 in the parking lot of the town hall on Middlesex Avenue. The parties exchanged insurance paperwork.

Monday, June 3:

11:08 a.m.: A resident on Woburn Street was cleaning out their house and found six long bullets, and was looking to have them removed. The bullets were taken to be destroyed.

12:31 p.m.: A caller at the Red Heat Tavern on Lowell Street reported a hit-and-run accident taking place between his gray 2005 Toyota Corolla and a black black 2024 Toyota Rav4 while entering a parking lot, with the Rav4 last being seen heading towards West Street. The driver of the other vehicle was found, and paperwork was exchanged.

2:38 p.m.: A hit-and-run accident was reported at the Wilmington Middle School on Carter Lane, with a black 2017 Toyota Camry hitting the mirror of a red 2017 Toyota Sienna and not stopping. Police headed to the registered address of the Camry in Burlington to follow up.

Tuesday, June 4:

12:30 a.m.: A blue 2019 Subaru Impreza and a blue 2017 Volkswagen Passat were involved in a motor vehicle accident on Woburn Street. No injuries were reported, and no airbags were deployed.

1:07 a.m.: Maikon Mayer Dacunya Serpa of 228 Water St., Apt. #2, in Lawrence, was issued a summons for unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle and not having a valid inspection sticker. This followed a stop of his gray 2010 Ford Fusion on Burlington Avenue.

3:51 p.m.: Laura Anne Buonaros of 19 Pinewood Ave., in Billerica, was issued a summons for OUI-Liquor over .08%, a marked lanes violation, and negligent operation of a motor vehicle. This followed reports of a motor vehicle accident on Shawsheen Ave. involving her black 2007 Lincoln MKZ and a gray 2012 Hyundai Sonata.

Wednesday, June 5:

7:35 a.m.: A gray 2023 Nissan Frontier hit the median on the I-93 NB35. The fire department took the occupant to Lahey Medical center, and state police handled the situation afterwards.

GIRLS TENNIS GETS IT DONE

Tripathi's win propels Wilmington into state semifinals

By JASON COOKE
Sports Correspondent
sports@yourtowncrier.com

WILMINGTON — The fate of the Wilmington High girls tennis team laid in the hands of Shubhangi Tripathi on Saturday afternoon.

But it didn't seem to bother her a bit.

Nearing the third hour of her singles match, Tripathi and her opponent Gianna Picardi were the only players left on the court at Wilmington High School as the top-seeded 'Cats battled No. 9 Belchertown in the Elite 8.

Savannah Beatrice (6-3, 6-0) and Jaslene Ryou (6-2, 6-1) were victorious in their singles matches as Maria Cummings and Allison D'Arco (6-4, 6-4) and Madison Benoit and Sophia LaVita (6-4, 6-0) fell in their respective doubles duels.

That left a 2-2 score. The winner of Tripathi's third singles match would advance to the Final Four. The loser?

They'd go home.

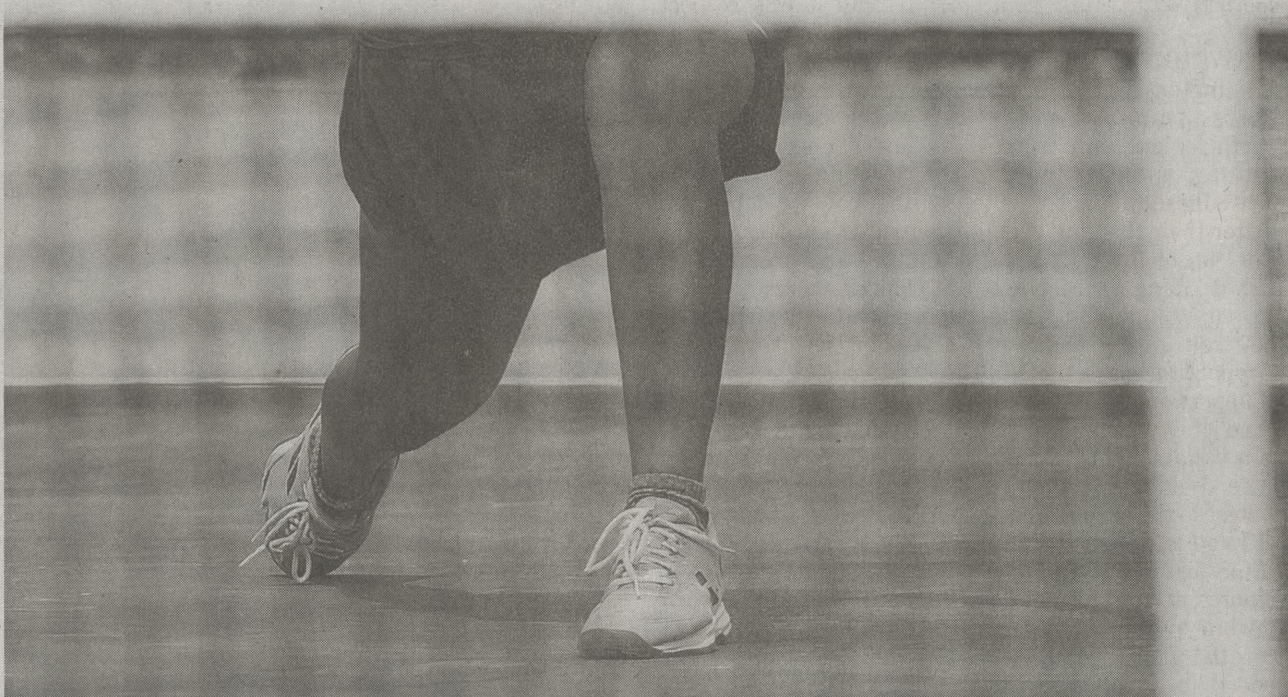

Yet the junior remained poised as ever, revealing no emotion throughout the marathon.

Tripathi held on to win a pivotal third set, 7-5, to send the gallery on hand into hysterics — and the Wildcats to the Div. 3 Final Four in a dramatic 3-2 win.

"She's the type of girl that doesn't want to let anyone down," said Wilmington coach Christina Woods. "I knew she was going to come through because that's how she is.

(James Thomas Photography)

I'm very proud of her."

After falling 6-4 in the first set, Tripathi fought back to claim the second set, 6-4, before punching her team's ticket to the next round.

"The cheering helped a lot and it helped motivate me," said Tripathi. "I knew there were so many people counting on me. My teammates work so hard and we definitely deserve to go to the Final Four."

That's all it took to block out the noise on Saturday. She didn't want to let down her teammates.

"I have to beat her," she said of her mindset headed to the deciding set. "I was just trying to compose myself so I could think more clearly. I was hitting more slices that are easy shots."

"She was able to pull through," added Woods. "She's got that grit, and she's hard working. They have each other's backs. If someone loses, one of the others pulls through. That's how it's been all season."

Wilmington also saw an impressive performance from first singles phenom in Beatrice, sliding past her opponent in what was the quickest and cleanest match of the afternoon.

Beatrice posted a 16-2 regular season record in her rookie season this spring.

"She took the game very fast," said Woods. "She's an amazing player and she's very talented. That's how her matches have gone all season. There's a lot of good things coming her way."

Woods would be lying if she told you she envisioned a trip to the Final Four when the season got underway in March. She knew she had a strong group, but going from 4-13 the season prior to a pair of wins away from a state title is quite the turnaround.

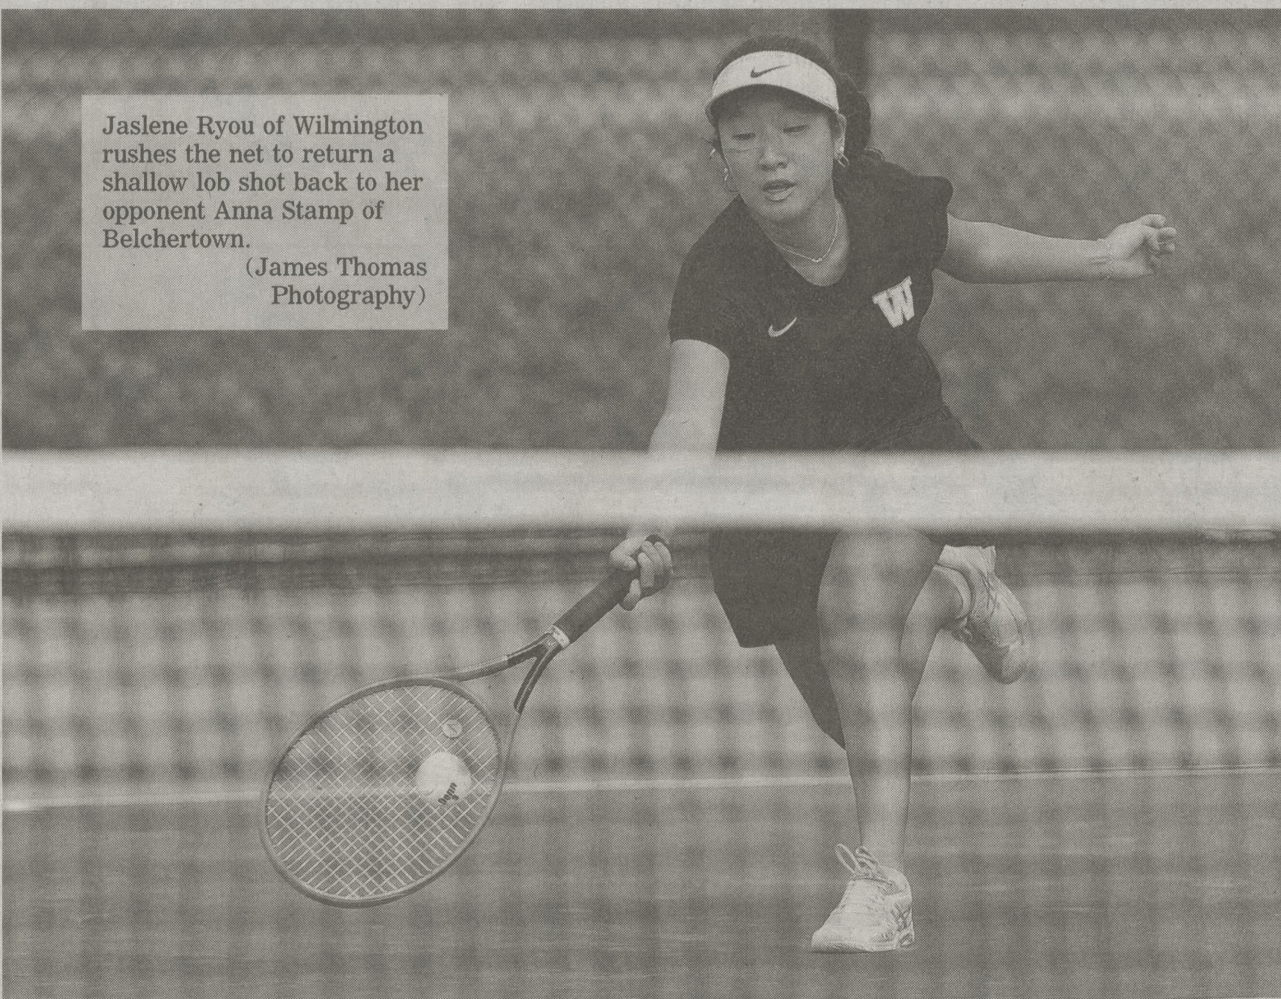

Even 30 minutes removed from the win, Woods still couldn't believe it.

"I was not expecting it coming into the season, and then we started just winning," said the coach. "As the season went on and we started getting the power rankings, we were number one the first time. From there, it just continued. Now, we're here. Let's finish it."

The 'Cats look to do just that on Wednesday against No. 4 Weston. The Final Four match is set for 2:30 p.m. at Lexington High School.

Boys lacrosse team's playoff run ends

Newburyport ends Wilmington's season in Round of 16

By JASON COOKE
Sports Correspondent
sports@yourtowncrier.com

NEWBURYPORT — The Wilmington High boys lacrosse team gave the fourth-ranked team in the state a run for its money on Wednesday night.

After their thrilling overtime upset over No. 13 Bishop Stang on Monday, No. 20 Wilmington made the trek north to Newburyport to battle the No. 4 Clippers on its home turf. And they certainly put up a valiant fight.

The Wildcats sent the contest to the second quarter knotted at two, trailing within just one in the final minutes of the half before Newburyport ultimately blew the game open in the second to advance to the Elite 8 for the second consecutive season with a 19-6 win.

Michael Lawler headlined the offense with a pair of goals as Ryan Archer, Colin Allard, Cam Gray, and Brady Cabral found the back of the net. Wilmington goalie Luke DeProfio made seven saves between the iron.

"I think they definitely respected us," said WHS first-year coach John Fortes. "We earned that respect. The last month or so of the season we were red-hot coming off an overtime win in the first round. So I think it was respect both ways and a hard-fought game both ways."

Both teams traded goals in the first quarter, as Lawler and Archer responded to Newburyport tallies to tie the contest after the opening 12 minutes.

Cabral sandwiched a pair of Clipper scores to begin the second, triggering a 7-0 Newburyport run into the second half. Carter Scott had his name smeared all over that shift, scoring eight goals for the hosts on Wednesday.

"They're a great team obviously," said Fortes. "They made less mistakes than us. We started to turn the ball over and we didn't pick up the ground balls that we should have."

And they did those things, and that put them in the driver's seat for the rest of the game."

Allard and Gray netted goals amidst two 30-minute weather delays in the third quarter, but it was too little, too late to spark a comeback.

After play resumed with 3:32 to play in the third frame, lightning struck just under three minutes later to force another 30-minute stoppage.

"We definitely wanted to keep the guys loose," said

Bobby Cyr of Wilmington gets a jump on the ball after a face off with Winchester's Chris Russo (center).
(James Thomas Photography)

Fortes of the delays. "We told them to get together and talk about things other than lacrosse. Whatever it takes to loosen up, hydrate, and stretch out. It's not ideal especially happening twice, but the guys were able to rebound from it and still fight hard the rest of the game."

Newburyport silenced Wilmington in the fourth, converting six unanswered tallies to put the exclamation mark on their triumph. While the score doesn't reflect how he performed, DeProfio kept Wilmington within striking distance for as long as possible.

The sophomore netminder was recently named a Middlesex League All-Star. "Luke is an incredibly talented young goalie," said Fortes. "It was great to see his contributions recognized by the rest of the league. He's a tremendous leader and going forward he's going to be a key part of this team. The sky's the limit for him."

The 'Cats said goodbye to their 13 seniors after the buzzer sounded, including Bobby Cyr, AJ Chisholm, Josh Jarbeau, Dempsey Murphy, Nick Iascone, Tiago Gomez, Adam Ebert, Joey Malvone, Lawler, Charlie Rooney, Luca Cudia, Ali Aboukal, and Clyde Lambert. They're the reason Fortes left Newburyport High School with a positive outlook toward the future.

"Our senior group was amazing leaders, amazing players, and amazing young men," said the coach. "They were great role models for the younger kids, and I think that's going to pile us into next season."

Their groundwork laid an impressive roadmap for Wilmington to replicate next spring.

The Wildcats cruised into the postseason riding a three-game winning streak, taking that momentum to edge Bishop Stang in the round of 32 for their second playoff win in program history.

"This was an incredibly successful year," concluded Fortes. "We started slow, and we were able to fight back and win some key games. I had contributions from my captains, my seniors, all the way down to my two freshmen."

A thank you in memory of

MICHAEL IPPOLITO

Our family is grateful for the generosity and compassion shown by each and every one of you in honoring my late husband with donations towards funding scholarships in his name. Michael would be so humbled and honored by those you hold him in their hearts.

Your support will not only help aspiring students achieve their dreams but will also serve as a beautiful tribute to his memory.

A thank you to the over 50 high school seniors from Wilmington, Tewksbury and Shawsheen Tech who applied for the Michael Ippolito Memorial Scholarship. Many of the essays written brought a tear to our eyes and a spark of Michael in our souls. You are amazing and we wish you well as you move forward in your future. Congratulations to the six recipients, who each received a $1000.00 scholarship. Special thank you's to our Board of Directors; Joe Gore, Doug Hastings, Joel Mignault, Jamie Pote, Jim Sullivan and Craig Turner! These guys work all year on our Jamborees, Football Numbers and soon to come our Sports Trivia Night.

Thank you for keeping his legacy alive through your shared stories, participation in our events and scholarship applications.

Truly,
Lisa, Michael and Adam Ippolito

WILMINGTON — On June 2, at 10:30 am, the Wilmington High School Class of 2024 earned their diplomas and became alumni.

The ceremony began with a procession of the graduates and a welcome from principal Ryan Gendron. Followed by the Pledge of Allegiance recitation from graduate Alex Kennedy, and playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the Wilmington High School Band, including the last performance by seniors in the band.

Class President Molly MacDonald addressed her class for the final time, thanking faculty, family, advisors, custodial staff, and WCTV.

"It seems like in the blink of an eye we have all matured into capable adults ready to embrace whatever chapter lies ahead," she described of her classmates, and took the time to honor a student who could not be at graduation. "As many of you know, we tragically lost a student who would be sitting alongside us right now. I went to daycare with Kevin, and his bright smile and laughter are attributes that never left him. I know I would be lying if I said we remained friends beyond the walls of our daycare, but I would also be lying if I said that I didn't notice the profound impact that he had on everyone around him."

WHS alumna and Wilmington Assistant Town Manager Judy O'Connell spoke, thanking the school administration, school committee, faculty, families, and friends for all their efforts for the town and graduates.

"I have a unique and special relationship with this class, as I had the privilege of teaching over 75 of you during your middle and high school years as a long-term mathematics substitute teacher. These teaching experiences gave me a window seat to admire just how well this class came together over the past four or plus years. You are a class of scholars, musicians, athletes, champions, artists, performers, and dreamers," said O'Connell when describing her experience with the graduates.

Wilmington School Committee Chair Jessee Fennelly followed O'Connell with the School Committee remarks, admitting he was keeping it brief because it's warm and sunny and he figured 18-year olds have little interest in hearing from a School Committee member.

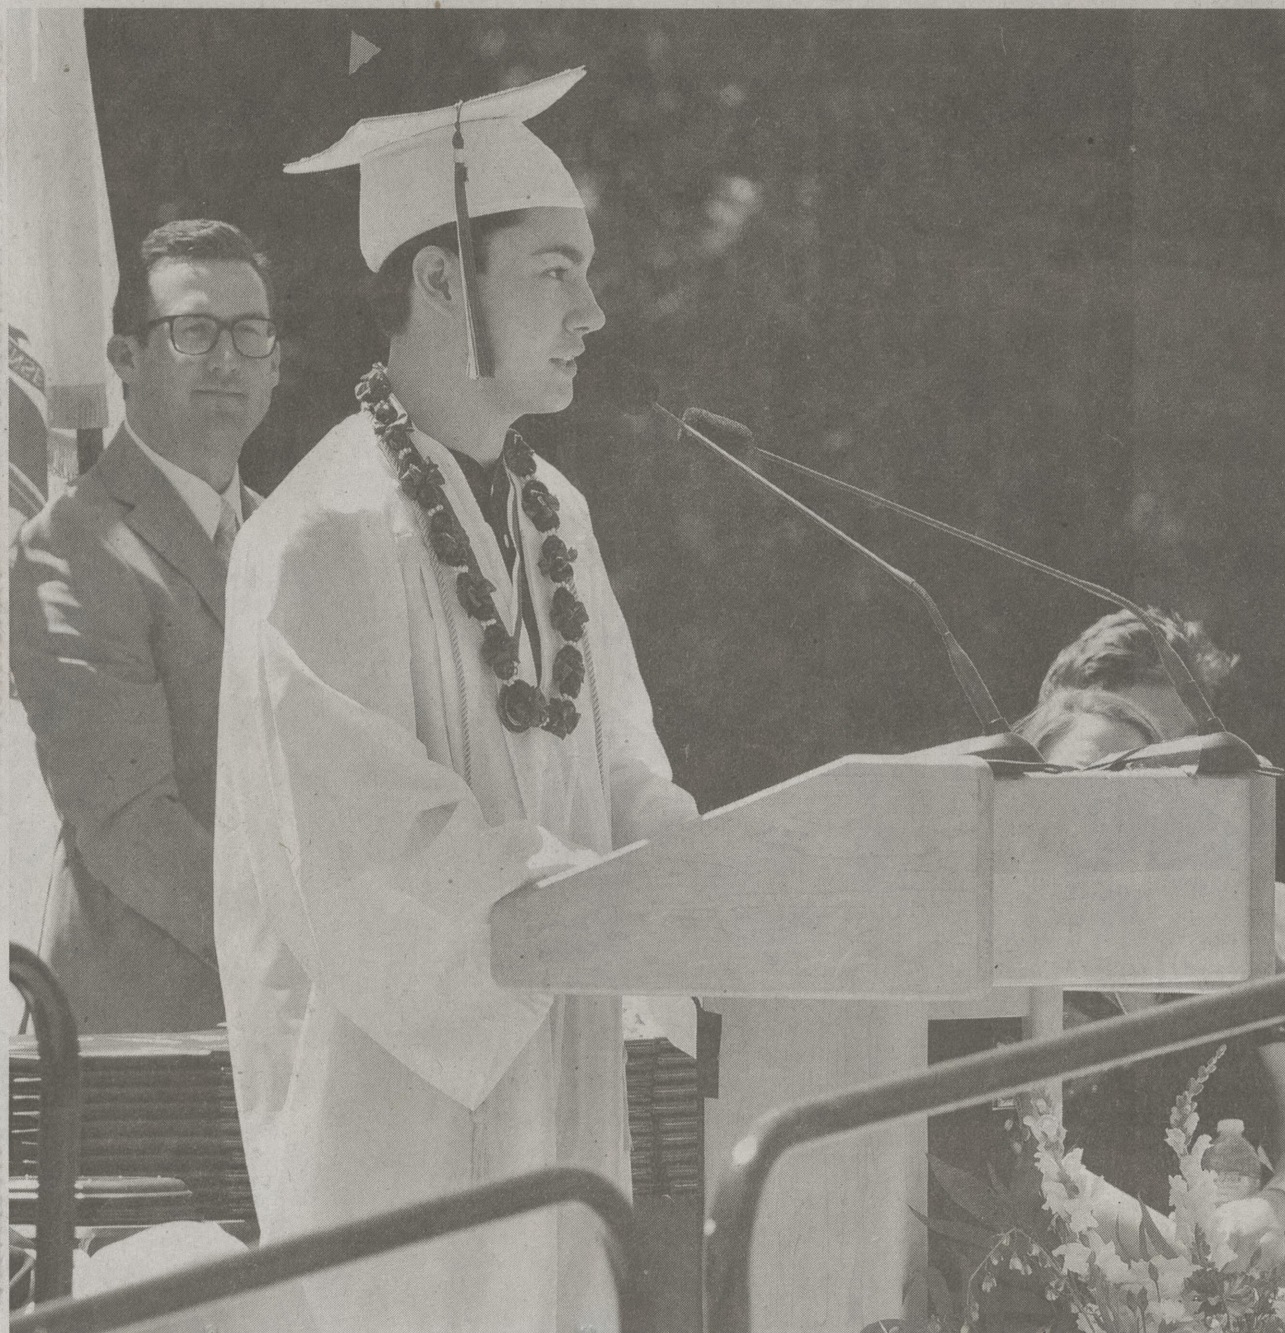

"Take time to reflect on the journey you've been on and everything it took to get to this point today, because each and every one of you should be filled with pride at this accomplishment," he advised the class.

Glenn Brand then spoke to the graduates, thanking those who organized the past week of celebrations. He took the time to explain the Senior Walk in the hallways of the middle and elementary schools the seniors recently embarked on, an event he got to catch a glimpse of.

"This event is, in every way, a celebration and a coming home of sorts for these young people. But equally so is bringing together the circle of the first phase of their lives and their time here in Wilmington Public Schools. And for some, perhaps, even in the community and where their journey for this class of 2024 began," remarked Brand.

Principal Gendron then addressed the class in his principal remarks, first thanking the parents, families, and educators from elementary to high school, for the support of their graduates over the past 12 years. And then, he praised the class for all their kindness and hard work.

"Thank you for being you, you have made kindness, curiosity, passion, achievement and resilience the new atmosphere around Wilmington High School. Thank you for welcoming me into the last two years of your educational journey, it has been an absolute pleasure watching your hard work and effort come to fruition for a wonderful senior year."

The Class Essayist, Nathan Murray, was the second student speaker of the celebration, and while feeling like he didn't deserve the position he had earned, decided to praise his class, as he put it.

"Looking around, it is easy to see the abundance of talent and passion," he said and concluded by saying, "I definitely think there is some wisdom in this advice, I think there is also beauty in the reverse; perhaps there is no need to do anything differently at all. Instead of changing ourselves to feel successful we should change the way we think about success, because when we are happy with ourselves and feel free to explore our passions, the thoughts and opinions of others won't matter."

Following Nathan came Salutatorian Kyla Kelley, who remarked, "as we embark on this next chapter of our lives, there are inevitably going to be changes, obstacles, and challenges that scare us, but we won't be held back by our fear. We have this amazing community in all the relationships we've built over the past four years to support us going forward."

Finally, Valedictorian Neda Stoeva spoke to her class about probability, and she quoted an article she found that said "Let's start small; what is the probability of your dad meeting your mom? The chances of you being born, of you ever being alive, are 1 in 102,685,000. In other and more simple words, they're basically zero."

And she concluded with the following advice: "Don't listen to anyone, you are an anomaly to begin with, so your life and your path are unprecedented."

Finally, the diplomas were handed to the graduates, with each graduate getting their moment on stage, to shake the hand of their principal, and cross the stage.

In the closing of the ceremony, students were instructed to move their tassels from left to right, and officially graduated Wilmington High School, to the cheering of their faculty, administration, School Committee, friends and family. Caps flew, and the graduates set off to celebrate and pursue whatever lies ahead.

Wilmington Town Crier congratulates the Class of 2024, and wishes them the best of luck in all future endeavors.

BILLERICA — On Thursday, June 6 at 6 p.m., on the football field of Shawsheen Valley Regional Vocational Technical High School, the Class of 2024 became alumni and earned their high school diplomas.

The celebrations began with a processional of the graduates to the tune of Pomp and Circumstance.

The ceremonial opening was led by Anna Doughty, National Honor Society President, who said, "We should all take this moment to recognize how far we have come in the last four years, they haven't all been easy, but we made it and we should all be proud of ourselves for the hard work and dedication it took to get here."

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Lucy Malfy, President of SkillsUSA and a Tewksbury resident.

The National Anthem was sung by Christian Rivera, under the direction of Rita Blanchette and Katie Maniscalco.

Superintendent-Director Tony McIntosh, introduced by Student Representative to the School Committee Sarah Johansen, then gave his Welcome Remarks.

"Please remember all of the proud traditions that you've been a part of and as you progress through your personal and professional lives please continue to support the work that we do here at Shawsheen," said McIntosh.

The Salutatory Address was given by Methun Thayaaparan, a Tewksbury graduate who studied Drafting.

"I just want everyone to remember the struggles we faced, the successes we achieved, and the misdemeanors we may or may not have committed," said Thayaaparan.

The Valedictorian Address was then given by Billerica graduate Jasmine Johansen, who studied Health Assisting, where she showed off the intelligence that all of her classmates have.

"There are many people in this audience who you would not think are the stereotype of a valedictorian or anything even close, however, they are way smarter than me or anyone else here, at their trades. These people competed in skills and made it to the national competition in their trades, proving that their smarts are not on paper, their smarts are on pipes, bricks, haircuts, patients, cars, and every other skilled profession that SkillsUSA and Shawsheen Tech offer."

The District School Committee chair then gave the Recognition of Achievement, congratulating the students while attempting to keep it brief, as "I thought of what I would have wanted to hear as an 18-year old sitting at high school graduation, and that probably would have been nothing at all" he joked to the graduates.

Wilmington resident and Senior Class President Eva Oppedisano gave the Farewell Address to the class.

"Somehow, in a blink of an eye, four years have passed and we are sitting here today, getting excited to be handed our high school diplomas and be able to say that we are officially done with school, some even forever," reflected Oppedisano.

Tewksbury graduate and Senior Class Vice President Allie Oliver then conducted the Presentation to Class Advisors.

"While words will never be enough to repay you both, I would like to thank you, on behalf of the senior class, and tell you how much your hard work meant to the class of 24," said Oliver to their advisors.

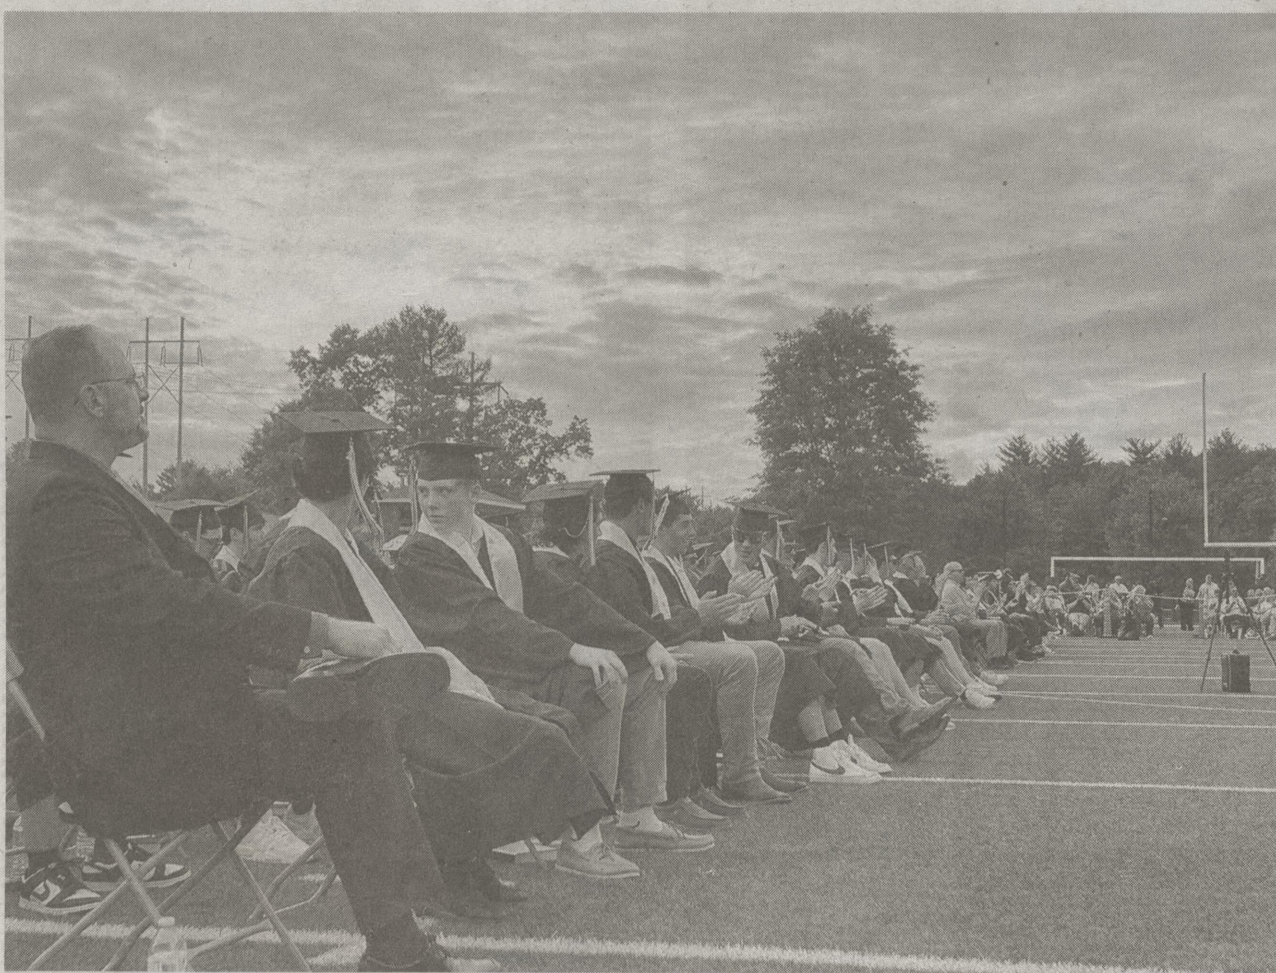

June Bardsley, Tewksbury graduate and Student Council Representative, followed with the presentation to the Parents' Advisory Council.

"We are beyond grateful for the time and energy these parents have been putting into making the last four years as memorable as possible," said Bardsley.

Superintendent McIntosh and Chair of the District School Committee then handed diplomas.

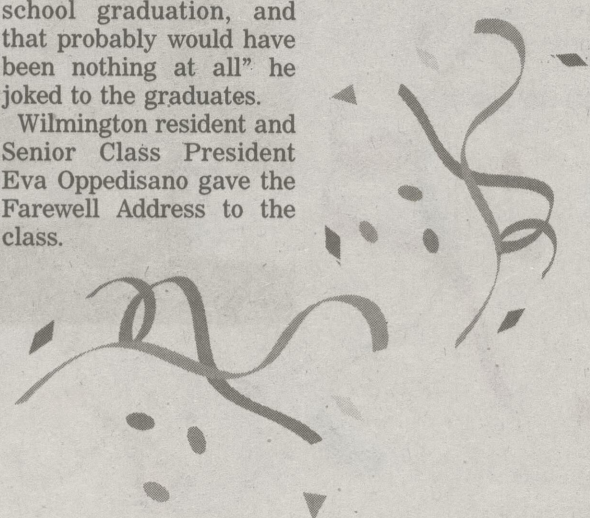

Finally, McIntosh instructed the class to turn their tassels in the ceremonial closing, and the newly graduated class participated in their recessional. Accompanied by Pomp and Circumstance once again, as they walked towards the celebrations ahead with their loved ones and the post-graduate life ahead for them.

The Class of 2024 of Shawsheen Tech is congratulated on their recent accomplishment, and is wished all the best in all they choose to pursue ahead.

COVID-19 Class of 2020 graduates college with first in-person graduation ceremonies

By CASEY STEVENSON
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — Four years ago, the Class of 2020 graduated high school in the most unprecedented of times. A time of masks, social distancing, and illness in what should have been a time of celebration and togetherness for them. Now, in 2024, these socially distant graduates finally get their in-person celebrations as they graduate college.

Colby Brown, a 2020 alumnus of Tewksbury Memorial High School, graduated from Providence College and its Honors Program this spring. He earned a Bachelors of Science in Management and a minor in Sociology. Sarah Cheney, a 2020 alumnus of Wilmington High School, graduated from the University of Maine with a major in Marine Science with a concentration in Oceanography. Both Cheney and Brown took time to discuss their collegiate and graduation experiences and future goals. When asked about their lives and college experience since their pandemic-ridden high school graduation, each talked about the success they have found in college. Cheney explained, “My college experience has been excellent and has opened me up to many different opportunities as a Marine Science major with a concentration in Oceanography. I spent one year at a local college and transferred to the University of Maine which ended up being a fabulous decision.” “My time at college has been great. When I was a high school senior, I wasn’t sure where to go, but now I know I made the right choice. I’ve enjoyed everything — my classes, friends, and activities. Providence College has been even better than I hoped, and I’ve grown a lot because of it,” said Brown. Cheney and Brown each talked about their post graduate plans, as well.

Cheney said she plans on “going to graduate school on Long Island for Marine and Atmospheric Science with a strong focus on sensor science.” While Brown is “currently attending graduate school at the University of Southern California Marshall Business School in Los Angeles, California.” When asked about advice for the recent high school graduates of 2024, Cheney remarked, “I would advise high school grads to not be afraid to deviate from the plan.” “Relax and give yourself time. Loving your college experience right away can be tough, but it usually grows with time. Keep working hard and getting involved, and things will come together. Meanwhile, enjoy the process” said Brown. “The best part of having an in-person graduation was being able to sit with my friends,” said Cheney. While Brown dived into all the ways graduation was special for him and his family, he said, “The best part has two sides. Firstly, having an event that truly marks the end of an experience feels fitting. In high school, it felt incomplete, making it difficult to grasp the end of that chapter. Secondly, witnessing my parents’ excitement as I crossed the stage was heartwarming, especially since I was their last child to graduate. It meant a lot to them.” Finally, when asked where they see themselves in the next five years, each shared the goals they have for themselves. Cheney said, “I hope to work and test new marine technology as we continue to explore the ocean.” While Brown said, “I see myself helping to build a start-up geared at solving an issue I’m passionate about, such as educational equality in the United States.” All the college graduates are congratulated on their recent accomplishments, and on being able to have their first fully in-person graduation ceremony.

Congratulations to the Graduating Class of 2024

I wish each of you a bright, happy and prosperous future!
